Tutoring Experience

Over the past few years, I've worked with students to build a solid foundation in geography, focusing on key areas such as human and physical geography. I have successfully supported IB students through their internal assessments and exam preparation, ensuring they are confident heading into exams.

I've also guided A-Level and IGCSE Geography students, providing tailored support to help them excel in their coursework and exams. My approach is focused on helping students develop analytical skills and a deeper understanding of geographical concepts, allowing them to achieve their best results.
